Do you want to turn the challenges of digitalization into the solutions of the future? Join BCG Platinion in tackling the core IT issues of leading global companies. Deploy customized platforms, architectures, strategies, and organizations to leverage the digital potential of our customers and drive true innovation. Add your individual strengths to our unique team, always there to support you. Together with Boston Consulting Group and our clients, we turn digital visions into reality.

Shape the world of tomorrow

You'll shape the digital transformation of globally leading companies while maintaining a clear view of overall technical solutions and individual client circumstances

You'll drive groundbreaking projects forward by using agile methods and modern approaches within the scope of strategic IT implementation for clients and by actively steering the relevant modules

You'll smooth the path for tailored, future-oriented customer journeys based on precise analysis of the specific situation and with current market developments and trends in mind

You'll design and optimize unique IT architectures within the framework of enterprise solution requirements, modern custom software developments, and sustainable digital solutions

You can help us make a difference if

You completed a degree in computer science, (business) informatics, or a related discipline with above average grades

You have at least five years of relevant experience in IT consulting, during which you implemented transformation and implementation projects in terms of both strategy and operations

You have technical knowledge along with experience on typical end-to-end processes relevant in the ERP context

You feel particularly comfortable in interdisciplinary teams and global contexts and are flexible and willing to travel

You're good at understanding and communicating complex topics in both Turkish and English

How to grow with us

We guarantee constant new development incentives in an open and rewarding work environment. You'll face challenges every day together with a dedicated team of talented colleagues. Individual training offers and a culture of open feedback will provide the framework you need to explore and perfect your own strengths. Our modern structures enable you to stay focused. This includes easy travel booking, our excellent back-office support and comprehensive Knowledge Center. We cultivate a strong and close team network from which you will also profit beyond your case work.
