We're a Digital Company and our passion lies in crafting cloud-based applications and scalable, high-performing micro-services that frequently integrate with APIs.

Responsibilities:

- Participating in the architecture, design, development, and implementation of complex applications and core utilities
- Collaborating with divisional architects, lead engineers, and other senior engineers to establish architectural standards for the division
- Ensuring applications are designed with security and compliance considerations from inception, by governing policies
- Providing mentorship to team members, including outsourced resources
- Developing business domain expertise and offering technical support to Subject Matter Experts (SMEs) in that domain
- Proactively ensuring the consistency, documentation, and flexibility of APIs at both the system and sub-system levels
- Advocating for and championing best practices across various areas of software engineering, including security, testability, reliability, and scalability

- Assisting QA in developing quality and performance monitoring programs for specific systems, sub-systems, and components, with coverage of automated tests
- Writing high-quality and readable code
- Developing and deploying new features and bug fixes promptly
- Writing tests (unit tests, integration tests, and end-to-end tests)
- Integrating APIs and conducting code reviews
- Attending meetings related to sprints consistently
- Demonstrating patience and perseverance in overcoming challenges, problem-solving, and learning new computer languages and techniques
