Company: Udemy

Location: Ankara

Category: other-general

About this role

As a Senior Staff Data Scientist on the Search Experience team, you will build scalable search algorithms fueled by machine learning and data-driven processes. You will collaborate with other Data Scientists, Product Managers and engineers to improve Udemy's search product. We have an exciting road map ahead of us and it is a unique opportunity to build a robust and powerful search system at scale.

What you'll be doing:

You will be driving the development of sophisticated data models and algorithms. Your expertise will be crucial in fine tuning ML models.

You will develop innovative approaches to build data products and implement fast prototypes.

You will stay at the cutting edge of advancements in data science, NLP, LLMs, machine learning, and prompt engineering.

You will implement complex data pipelines and maintain/monitor them.

You will form product hypotheses, implement metrics and design A/B experiments to quantitatively measure product success.

You will communicate project status to non-technical stakeholders.

You will guide and inspire junior data scientists and engineers, shaping the future of our department and fostering a culture of continuous innovation and learning.

What you'll have

5+ years of full-time experience with machine learning, data science or equivalent.

Strong knowledge of machine learning and hands-on experience in a variety of fundamental methods like regression, classification, clustering using libraries like scikit-learn, LightGBM etc.

A solid understanding of analytics, statistics, and probability. This includes familiarity with statistical tests, distributions, and data analysis techniques and effectively interpreting and communicating statistical information.

Strong verbal and written communication skills enable you to effectively articulate technical concepts and findings to non-technical team members and stakeholders.

Experience with relevant programming languages (e.g. Python).

Experience writing complex SQL queries.

Experience with deep learning frameworks (e.g. Tensorflow, PyTorch).

Experience with Natural Language Processing (NLP) methods.

Experience building products using LLMs. Knowledge of prompting techniques, prompt-tuning, Retrieval Augmented Generation (RAG)

We understand that not everyone will match each of the above qualifications. However, we also realize that everyone has unique experiences that can add value to our company.

Even if you think your background might not perfectly align, we'd love to hear from you!
